Nationwide- Temperatures are starting to drop across the country and so are the spirits of singles who find themselves unlucky in love as the Holidays are upon us. Tis' the season to get proactive, according to Elite Connections founder and CEO Sherri Murphy. Murphy believes that there is someone for everyone but you won't find them sitting at home. She feels that you need to have an open mind and try a new approach, as she did whe she was introduced to her husband Bill in 1994 through a personal matchmaker. This inspired Murphy to open her own company after years as a realtor and she opened her first office in Beverly Hills in 1996.
